[illegible]ently I participated in a [illegible] of the tour sponsored by [illegible]irginia Soil Fertility As[illegible]ation. The significant thing [illegible] application for this area [illegible]ocks.

[illegible]e of the counties we visit[illegible]d members are up 12 per [illegible]over a year earlier.

[illegible]alking with one manager we [illegible]rn that this year a com[illegible]ed feeder pig operation [illegible]been added. The 60 stall [illegible]ng house was com[illegible]ed January 30 and the first [illegible]farrowed on February 2. [illegible]ease cost $450 per stall. [illegible]e first two farrowings were [illegible]gths and averaged 7.2 and [illegible]gs weaned respectively. [illegible]third group has now far[illegible]ed and are currently at 10 [illegible]ter; however, they [illegible]ot to be weaned.

[illegible]ousing is a problem in [illegible]ded lots. To combat this [illegible]en the tails from day old [illegible]gs are removed. The second [illegible]ing was sold the day be[illegible]es visited the farm. They [illegible]e sold off the sow at nine [illegible]s of age, weighing an aver[illegible]of 54.68 pounds. They were [illegible]ed $2.67 per pound, 404 [illegible]ght $10,127.

[illegible]ss to say there were [illegible]y smiles on this farm.

[illegible]ppomattox farmers can in[illegible]ase their farm income any [illegible]ey elect to intensify their [illegible]tion.

[illegible]w offer an excellent pos[illegible]ity. With hogs there is a [illegible]turnover of capital.

[illegible]e new portable farrowing [illegible]nishing houses are low-[illegible]ments. They utilize the [illegible]floor system.

[illegible]'d like to show you the [illegible]and talk hogs with you.

[illegible]week we took a look at [illegible]of the new dark-fire-cured [illegible]co varieties. You'll be in[illegible]ted in knowing that this [illegible]here are 10 to 12 hybrid [illegible]co plants, [illegible]recent years a high per-[illegible] centage of the Burley varieties being planted are hybrids.

Further testing is necessary before releasing any hybrid dark tobacco varieties.

"It's stupid for egg producers or anybody to brag about how cheaply they can produce food," says Cliff Stewart, of the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation.

Instead he feels a producer ought to concentrate his economic pitch on what he must receive at the market place. He reminds us you don't hear the manufacturer of an automobile or refrigerator bragging about how cheaply he can build his product.

Talk a cheap price and you'll get it.

It is reported that last year the Federal Government spent $50 million subsidizing tobacco growers and $4.5 million on its campaign to get people to quit smoking. But the government also collected more than $2 billion in Federal Tobacco Taxes.

From time to time there is interest in supplying fertilizer to plants as a foliar spray.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture released a study on this subject recently. They conclude:

It is not practical to attempt to supply nitrogen, phosphate and potash to general farm crops by spraying these nutrients on the leaves.

No increase in yields of general farm crops can be expected from one or several foliar spray applications of nitrogen, phosphate and potash where adequate amounts of these nutrients are maintained by applying dry or liquid fertilizer to the soil.
